Do you see your English Language Learners (ELLs)?

Background	Possible learning	Supports needed	_
These students have received formal academic instruction in their native country and language. *easier time transferring to English	students understand literacy concepts and can read phonetically without comprehension.	Teach based on students' personal strengths Group/peer interaction activities transferring of knowledge in native language to English English phonetics
These students have minimal or no experience of formal academic instruction.	*minimal responses in L1 or L2 *will struggle initially regardless of language use.	Build background knowledge through cultural connections Encourage student to share cultural information Provide student with summaries and exercises in their L1
These students were born in the U.S. or have received majority of their education in the U.S. but are neither proficient in their L1 or L2	It will take the students 5-7 or more years to acquire CALP (3). Even after students have received several years of formal education, they may continue lack proficiency of literacy skills.	define specific activities in which the student can excel Encourage class participation in student Clarify the meanings of idioms, symbolic language, American cultural references.

The SIOP Model

1. Lesson Preparation

- Write content objectives and language objectives clearly
- > Appropriate content concepts
- > Supplementary materials
- > Adapt content
- > Meaningful activities

Match the Content Objective with the Language Objective. Be ready to justify your answer

1. SWBAT identify the equivalence among decimals, fractions, and percents by matching the decimals, fractions, and percents in a mix-match-freeze activity.
2. SWBAT differentiate between plant and animal cells by illustrating the cells side by side.
3. SWBAT identify key events in a historical era by constructing a timeline4. SWBAT use reading strategies to comprehend text by sequencing events on story strip.

- A. SWBAT analyze the difference between plant and animal cells by listing the characteristics in a Venn Diagram and sharing orally their diagrams with a partner
- B. SWBAT justify the equivalence among decimals, fractions, and percents by presenting orally their match to the class using the words decimal, fraction, and percent.
- C. SWBAT apply reading strategies to comprehend text by writing a summary that follows the sequence of events on a completed story strip.
- SWBAT explain key events in a historical era by presenting orally their timelines to the class including key vocabulary.

Notes:

2. Building Background

- Explicitly link concepts to students' background
- Explicitly link past learning and new concepts
- > Emphasize key vocabulary

*Why is this political cartoon confusing, or not amusing?

*What information might you need in order for it to make sense?

3. Comprehensible Input

- > Use appropriate speech
- Explain academic tasks clearly
- > Use a variety of techniques to make concepts clear

5. Interaction

- Frequent opportunities for interactionsUse group configurations
- > Provide sufficient wait time for student responses
- > Give opportunities for students to clarify key concepts in first language (L1)

What are ways that you utilize technology to facilitate interaction?

6. Practice and Application

- Hands-on materials and/or manipulatives
- Activities for students to apply content and language knowledge
- Activities that integrate all language skills

7. Lesson Delivery

- Support content and language objectives clearly
- > Engage students approximately 90-100% of the period
- > Pace the lesson appropriately to the students' ability level.

Questions:

2. Were all students engaged? Why or why not?

3. Did you observe other SIOP Components and features present in this lesson?

4. How might you have delivered the lesson differently? What might you "borrow" for use in your classroom?

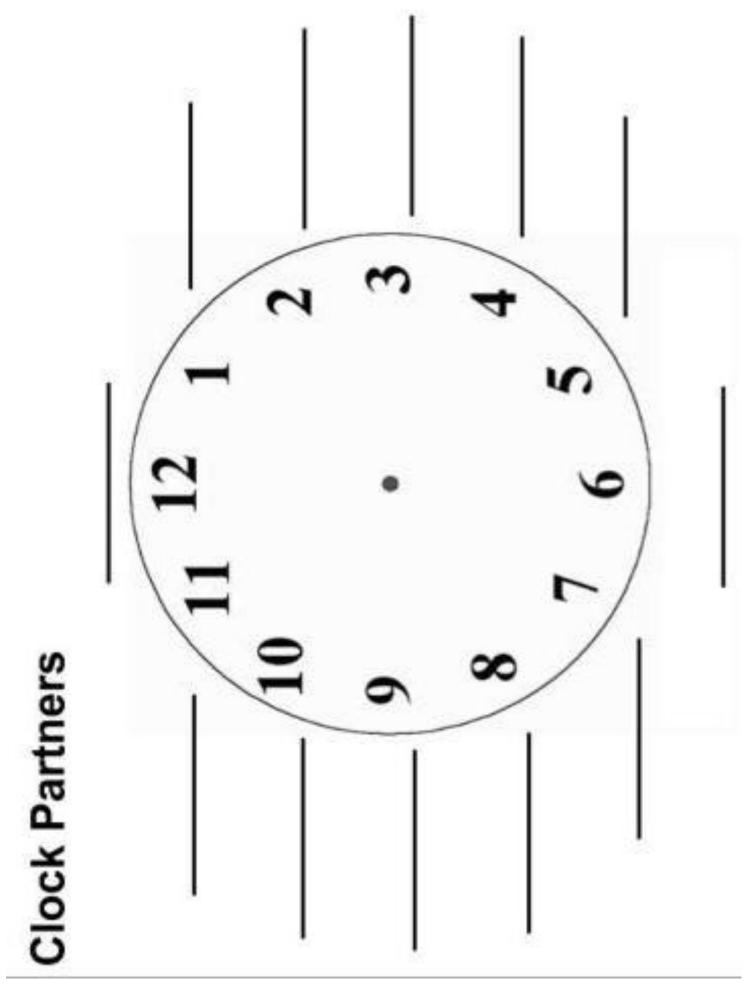

8. 1	> Comprehensive review of key vocabulary and key content concepts > Provide feedback to students > Assessments of student comprehension and learning throughout the lesson
1. Wha	at are techniques you use to
a.	Review vocabulary?
b.	Review content concepts?
